

Superman

Chef'Special

Somewhere somehow
Back then is looking at me now
And I recognize my face

Red eyes and flashlights
On a fuzzy night
Now I'm on the outside
But I recognize the place

Do you ever think about the times
We could be anything we wanted to be
You said, Superman, just spread your arms and fly
We could be anything we wanted to be

Somewhere somehow
We lost the magic that we found
And it's never been replaced
It was just wide eyes and bright lights
In another life I was on the inside
Now I'm drifting into space

Do you ever think about the times
We could be anything we wanted to be
You said, Superman, just spread your arms and fly
We could be anything we wanted to be

We could be anything
We could be anything
We could be anything
We could be anything we wanted to be
We could be anything we wanted to be
We could be anything we wanted to be
