New Recording 28 - Lions

Chelsea Cutler

I haven't heard you say goodnight
Slip both your hands between my thighs Turn out the light, pulling me in Counting the freckles that dapple my skin

I haven't felt you scratch my back
I make a joke cause I know you will laugh
My favorite sound, I hope that you still Laugh just as much now I'm not there to hear

And I'll lay awake hoping that you're asleep in your building t hat's only sixteen blocks from mine
And I'll sleep all day hoping that you're awake loving every mo ment and doing alright
You said if I really love you then I'd understand why a person
like you needs some time
So I'll let you go, and hope you come home, if you're really mi ne

You were my sun, I saw a light
I've always been happy but sad in this life
But you gave me more, something to keep
Now I'm counting how many Ks put me to sleep

I want you to smile, to feel like enough
Cause you deserve yellow and lions and love
I hope you come back when you're doing well Forgive me for being the worst of myself

And I'll lay awake hoping that you're asleep in your building t hat's only sixteen blocks from mine
And I'll sleep all day hoping that you're awake loving every mo ment and doing alright
You said if I really love you then I'd understand why a person
like you needs some time
So I'll let you go, and hope you come home, if you're really mi ne

I watch the sun go down at the beach
And think about kissing you back in your jeep
Watching the wind make home in you hair
And thinking that I could die happy right there

I took my phone to tape as you walked Down the rye coast with your hand in my palm
So I never forget how it feels to be home
So when I close my eyes, that's where I go

And I'll lay awake hoping that you're asleep in your building that's only sixteen blocks from mine
And I'll sleep all day hoping that you're awake loving every moment and doing alright
You said if I really love you then I'd understand why a person like you needs some time
So I'll let you go, and hope you come home, if you're really mine