I know the next scene
Can imagine in my mind
Your eyes are unfocused and distracted
It tells everything

You say your goodbye
I just listen
First time seeing this scene
It'll be our last
The bench we were sitting is still warm
Sunset sky still golden
I used to believe in forever
They're all fading away

Your lips look dry and cracked
Please stop
Let's pretend I didn't hear it
And nothing happened

You say your goodbye
I just listen
First time seeing this scene
It'll be our last

Can't you see how this breaks me?
Behind your back, slowly fading
I stand, holding broken memories
Holding back tears

You get more distant
I'm breaking down
Our last scene together
I'll be left alone
On these familiar streets
In these familiar scents
I used to believe in forever
All fade away

Only longing remains
All else fades away
