

Secrets Of The Heart

Chesney Hawkes

Looking glass
Do you see what I see
Someone standing there
Who looks a lot like me
I know that hair
I know those dark brown eyes
But it's not me
It's only a disguise

Are the secrets of the heart are never really shown
And even standing side by side we still live so alone,
alone

I loved that girl
I thought that she loved me
But I found that words
Can lie so easily
She seemed so close
She always seemed to care
But when I needed her
I found a stranger there

Are the secrets of the heart are never really shown
And even standing side by side we still live so alone,
alone
Secrets

We reach out
The heart is a mystery that's never shown
Until we know ourselves we must turn back
Maybe I'll never know what I must do
To help me understand

Are the secrets of the heart are never really shown
And even standing side by side we still live so alone,
alone
Oh oh

Are the secrets of the heart are never really shown
now
Secrets

Where are the secrets of the heart?
Are never really shown
And even standing side by side we still live so alone,
alone
