Asked my heart

If I'd ever want to fall again

Knowing it was shaky from the start

Big mistake

Learned something new about myself

And wondered how long this goodbye would take

There we were just wanting to be friends
Helplessly hopelessly falling
What people say and every sweet cliche'
All true at that moment
When you surrender to it
It happened to be

Crazy
How did I find you
Crazy, crazy happy baby
Crazy
I think it's crazy
I'm so glad that crazy happened to me

On my own
Never quite the way it's supposed to be
Surrounded in a crowded room alone
Now I know
All that I was ever praying for Appeared except my eyes refused to see

And I never worry 'bout the way things might have been 'Cause the gods decide just how it's gonna be When you least expect it "This is it" they said "it's time to believe"