

(Running Out Of) Hallelujahs

Chiiild

I run a million miles an hour
Just to crash into the distance
I've traveled far and for convictions
That were promised but were missing

It seems like nights like this
Life comes at me, it don't quit
You're the storm, you're the wind
The beginning and the end
But I'm facing tides
Overhead

Can't kill my midnight disillusions
It's been a fight that I've been losing
They say all things can happen through you
But I'm running out of hallelujahs
Running out of hallelujahs

In a moment's notice, I begin to lose my focus
All the promises they made
Gave me hope and led me astray
But then I finally found my balance
In your arms and on our island
Gave me strength so I could fight it

It seems like nights like this
Life comes at me, it don't quit
You're the storm, you're the wind
The beginning and the end
But I'm facing tides
Overhead

Can't kill my midnight disillusions
It's been a fight that I've been losing
They say all things can happen through you
But I'm running out of hallelujahs
Running out of hallelujahs

Can't kill my midnight disillusions
It's been a fight that I've been losing
They say all things can happen through you
But I'm running out of hallelujahs
Running out of hallelujahs
