Flight Of The Navigator

Childish Gambino

I had a dream I had a dream I was flying over all of us There were so many pretty people So many pretty faces I talked to some birds I fell in love again And none of this ever ended Everything just kept going, and going and going And even when you laughed, you cried And even when you were sad you were really happy Because you were here And I got to meet every star, every planet Everything that made me And we all kissed And became the same We became the same We became the same Who would have thought this We almost lost it When you lie inside darkness it's hard to see And we sleep in tradition Keep them off in the distance To tell you that I haven't been We are all Cold water Why try at all? Why bother? Just hold me close my darling Who would have dreamed this? You couldn't mean this It would be some type of meanness to where you are 'Cause I don't know where to go And no one else seems to know We are all Night's fallen Why try at all? Dark callin' So we're left alone No one left to call upon Be still now, broken bones As I travel on just hold me close my darling Just hold me close my darling Hold me close my darling Just hold me close my darling So we're left alone No one left to call upon Be still now, broken bones As I travel on just hold me close my darling

Just hold me close my darling Just hold me close my darling Just hold me close my darling
