

I Thought So

Chloe Ament

Forgot that I was driving till I parked and killed the engine
Forgot I left the stove on till the house had burned
Forgot that I was tired till I laid under the covers Forgot that I still loved you till I saw you out with her

She leaned over and made you laugh and something in me shattered
d
Maybe it was envy but it felt more like heartbreak Cause you told me you would wait until I felt the same about yo u
Now I'm holding you like water cause I learned to love too late

Tell me was it easy
How you got the girl
Did you ask her father
Promise her the world
I would know
I would know

Forgot I had your sweater till I saw you at a party
All the dancing and the music made me think of how we met
So it killed me when you sent your friend to ask if I'd return it
Oh, honestly till then I had forgot how much it meant

You make it look easy, you do, you do
(And if I could have known)
Moving on from us
(I'd never let you go)
Two years gone in minutes
(Maybe in another life)
Didn't look back once
(You'd be mine)
I would know
I would know
