

off-chance

Chloe Ament

Stayed up watching your favorite shows
Just in case you brought them up
I spent my weekend reading your favorite books
Just so we'd have something to discuss
On the off-chance we fall in love

I take the long way home now to pass your apartment
In case you look outside
I started running errands on Tuesday nights
So you might see me when I'm driving by
On the off-chance your eyes meet mine

Feeling like I'm losing it, losing it right now
Cause I never seem to think, think, when you're around
You know I try to keep it cool
Somehow I always come undone
I'm crashing and burning after flying
Too close to the sun

Tried so hard to be myself
You probably think that I'm way too detached
I started working harder at telling jokes
Cause I like it when you laugh
And maybe I'll communicate
On the off-chance you'll reciprocate
But I've learned to love this anxious state I'm living in

Feeling like I'm losing it, losing it right now
Cause I never seem to think, think, when you're around
You know I try to keep it cool
Somehow I always come undone
I'm crashing and burning after flying
Too close to the sun

Oh...

Oh, I'm feeling like I'm losing it, losing it right now
Cause I never seem to think when you're around
You know I try to keep it cool
Somehow I always come undone
I'm crashing and burning after flying
You know I try to keep it cool
Somehow I always come undone
I'm crashing and burning after flying
Too close to the sun