Chloe Ament

Remember how we used to talk about everything that crossed our minds
Now we barely speak
And when I try to think of the last time you asked me how I felt
I know it's been weeks

My heart races a lot these days for people who don't know my name
And probably never will
Secrets I wish I could tell and conversations by myself
A million what-ifs going in for the kill

Overflowing, all I want
Is to pour out my heart
The sands of time are taunting us
When did we fall apart

I have learned to cope alone without anyone by my side and
Still I'm not okay
My chest is tight and I stop breathing, sleep it runs away from me
How did I end up so far away

Overflowing, all I want
Is to pour out my heart
The sands of time are taunting us
When did we fall apart
I feel I still know your name
But let me ask you again
Stranger

Silence suffocating
Oh, my heart is breaking
Every night awake
Where did we go wrong

All we say is "no I'm fine"
My forest fire mind
Is running wild with
Where did we go wrong

Silence suffocating
Oh, my heart is breaking
Every night awake
Where did we go wrong

It's clear we're falling out of place
I haven't seen your face
In days we drift away
It's all my fault

Overflowing, all I want
Is to pour out my heart
The sands of time are taunting us
When did we fall apart
I feel I still know your name
But let me ask you again
Stranger
