

siren calling

chloe moriondo

Stayed for the night, you turned off the light
Inside, I was secretly hoping
I think I knew then how it'd end, but I know I just ignored it
You looked in my eyes, I thought I could die
And you said you don't wanna be my friend
And I wanted to cry, but I won't do that again

And I always wonder when I'll be done
I'm siren calling the wrong one
Give me another reason to wanna run
I always give them all I know
They trade it in or let it go
Give me love, do it for show
Then leave me tomorrow

So I let me be lonely
When I'm sick of fillin' up to feel empty
I roam the coast alone
And it never lasts long, but I never come home
Can't remember where to find it
Every single light has left me blinded
I'm always searching through
But I wish I could say for who

And I always wonder when I'll be done
I'm siren calling the wrong one
Give me another reason to wanna run
I always give them all I know
They trade it in or let it go
Give me love, do it for show
Then leave me tomorrow

Wasted without a compass, baby, I'll go where you go, I can't say no
Call me from an island and I'll find it somehow, please just tell me so I don't know how to be without somebody to follow
