

He's Still Here

Chris August

Two-thousand years ago He walked the earth, just flesh and bone
He used to heal the sick, make broken hearts turn beautiful,
But today we don't believe in miracles
Tell me when did we start thinking God stopped movin' when He does?
And why do we beleive that He has somehow lost His touch?
Oh, what's wrong with us?

He's still here
Still movin' after all these years
And He never disappeared
Our God yesterday is our God today
He's still here
He's still here

Let me tell the truth to you, sometimes I doubt what I can't see
But, then I look at this evidence - Your hands, Your breath on everything
And I believe, oh, silly me
Tell me when did I start thinking God stopped movin' when He does?
Why do I beleive The Savior stopped showin' up?
'Cause He's just as near as He ever was

He's still here
Still movin' after all these years
And he never disappeared
Our God yesterday is our God today
He's still here
He's still here

He was never gone
He didn't stay in the grave
His love is the one
He's still with us today
So break your chains!

He's still here
Still movin' after all these years
(Still movin' after all these years)
And he never disappeared
Our God yesterday (Our God yesterday) is our God today
He's still here
And He's movin', yeah, He's movin'
He's not in the grave
(He's still here)
He's still movin'
And His love is lovin' us today
Our God yesterday (Our God yesterday) is our God today
He's still here
Two-thousand years ago He walked the earth, just flesh and bone
They layed Him in a grave, but He wasn't there when they moved the stone, no
And He's still here
