What have you done, my little spark?

F# F E D Am

Cursing my name 'cause again I put you out

E E/As Am Em/G

Falling apart, you tell yourself you are

F# F E D Am

Dreaming only of the ones who never dream of you

I'm your disappearing one

Vanish when the curtain's drawn

But I will come again, and you will let me in

And you'll see I never disappear for long

Into your room I stumble now

Too tired to cower and it's too late to draw you out

And there you lie like a painting of Christ

Bleeding on the HANDS of the ones who nailed you down

I'm your disappearing one

Vanish when the curtain's drawn

But I will come again

And you will let me in

And you'll see I never disappear for long
