

Cheap

Chris Janson

You only get so many sunsets sinking outside your door
Can only make so many memories 'til you can't make no more
Missing out on all that living, something that you can't afford
If you wanna look back on a life you wouldn't take a million for

When's the last time you found five minutes
Crumpled up on the street?
Or poured a little cash in the hourglass
Bought you back one week
You could stack up the green down at the bank
But let me tell you, friend, you ain't as rich as you think
When you're down to your last heartbeat
Time makes money look cheap

If a buddy calls, says he needs to talk, I'm listening
When my kid grabs a pole, says he wants to go, we're fishing
And if she wants to dance, we're dancing
I ain't gonna miss a chance, man
'Cause you never know when your last chance might be

When's the last time you found five minutes
Crumpled up on the street?
Or poured a little cash in the hourglass
Bought you back one week
You could stack up the green down at the bank
But let me tell you, friend, you ain't as rich as you think
When you're down to your last heartbeat
Time makes money look cheap

Time makes money look cheap

Time makes money, time makes money look cheap
So get some wind in your sails and some beach sand on your feet

When's the last time you found five minutes
Crumpled up on the street?
Poured a little cash in the hourglass
Bought you back one week
You could stack up the green down at the bank
But let me tell you, friend, you ain't as rich as you think
When you're down to your last heartbeat
Time makes money look cheap

(Time makes money, time makes money look cheap)
Time makes money look cheap
(Time makes money, time makes money look cheap)
Yeah, time makes money look cheap
(Time makes money, time makes money look cheap)
Yes, it does
Yeah, time makes money look cheap
(Time makes money, time makes money look cheap)
Time makes money look cheap
