

Dusklight

Chris Kläfford

It shouldn't be too hard to be kind
You shouldn't have to tell me twice
But I'm waiting, waiting for you

To come back from behind your eyes
The place in your mind where you hide
Wish you'd show me, what I can do

Feels like everything I say is wrong
Dancing to different songs

We're caught in the dusklight
We're turning to rust like
We're sleeping awake and trying our best to remember

The feeling that first night
But maybe if we fight
The clouds will depart, and we'll see sunshine in December
I ain't giving up on love

We've been moving in reverse
Everything sounds rehearsed
And we're waiting, to hear something new

So, I'm throwing out my lines
Ditch the script, so we can find
Something honest, something true

Feels like everything I say is wrong
Dancing to different songs

We're caught in the dusklight
We're turning to rust like
We're sleeping awake and trying our best to remember

The feeling that first night
But maybe if we fight
The clouds will depart, and we'll see sunshine in December
I ain't giving up on love

I ain't giving up on love
I ain't giving up on love
Don't you give up on love

We'll blow on the ashes and pull a fire from the embers

We're caught in the dusklight
We're turning to rust like
We're sleeping awake and trying our best to remember

The feeling that first night
But maybe if we fight
The clouds will depart, and we'll see sunshine in December
I ain't giving up on love

I ain't giving up on love
