

I Do

Chris Kläfford

Run away with me darling
My heart in your hands
Didn't know what we started
But now there's no end

All I want is everything you are
And every night I thank my lucky stars
I call you home and you can call me yours
This is all I'm asking for

At the dawn of each day
The sunrise we'll share
And all of your burdens I'll bear
I swear nothing compare
To being your man
So, tell me I'll be the last

I could never reconcile with
The thought of growing old without you
Every day I find another part of you I never knew
I could never live a life where you're
Not around, love
So, say you will, say I do

Never had nothing stronger
Nor whisky, nor wine
Can't compare to the moment
You told me you're mine

All I want is everything you are
And every night I thank my lucky stars
I call you home and you can call me yours
This is all I'm asking for

At the dawn of each day
The sunrise we'll share
And all of your burdens I'll bear
I swear nothing compares
To being your man
So, tell me I'll be the last

I could never reconcile with
The thought of growing old without you
Every day I find another part of you I never knew

I could never live a life where you're
Not around, love
So, say you will, say I do

When the worlds got you down on your knees
I'll be there
When your load gets too heavy
Just lay it on me
When you're trembling cold in the night
I'll be chasing the shadows away

At the dawn of each day

The sunrise we'll share
And all of your burdens I'll bear
I swear nothing compares
To being your man
So, tell me I'll be the last

I could never reconcile with
The thought of growing old without you
Every day I find another part of you I never knew

I could never live a life where you're
Not around, love
So, say you will, say I do
