

Sometimes

Chris Miles

It's the way she moves 'round me sometimes, I know [ay, hold up]
And she takes my breath away when she gets close, baby you know
I been drowning in my thoughts of you so long
Can you save me from myself, I lost control
Without you

Ay, that's just how it works sometimes
Got me thinking 'bout kicking bitches to the curb sometimes, ah
I say the truth but girl the words don't rhyme
If we hop in the space ship, imagine the world we'll find Sunlight, it hurts my eyes, but I'm allergic to pain
Girl, you the one that I want
I'm starting to die in my brain
I think I'm highly insane, forever trusting the soul
You got some trust in your funds, your parents never been broke

Like ah, I swear I never try to fuck you then go
Like nah, 'cause you the only one that's stuck in my dome
Just take a minute to kick it, I swear I love yo the most
And no matter the money you make me feel like I'm broke
Without you

Like it's the way she moves 'round me sometimes, I know
And she takes my breath away when she gets close
I been drowning in my thoughts of you so long
Can you save me from myself, I lost control

Oh, you don't suppose, if I can't have you then I'll probably make a clone
Things take time, but I don't want to take it slow
You read my mind when I can't find the words at all
Just to talk to you, girl

Is you 'bout it?
I been counting the number of moments we hang together like accountan ts, girl
I can never do you wrong, baby
So I went and wrote a song, baby
Tryna take you out that thong maybe
You can go and turn if you're alone baby

I don't want to wake up too early
'Cause my cup too dirty
Girl, when you're beside me I feel like I don't deserve it, ooh
But there's something 'bout your smile that make me feel alive

I think it's the way she moves 'round me sometimes, I know
And she takes my breath away when she gets close, baby you know
I been drowning in my thoughts of you so long
Can you save me from myself, I lost control
Without you
