

God, Be My Vision

Chris Renzema

God, be my vision, be my holy truth
Yea, I'll be the branches if You'll be the root
I'd give all my freedom, yea, I'd become a slave
To lay on Your shore and be washed by Your waves
To lay on Your shore and be washed by Your waves

I don't care for riches nor man's empty praise
'Cause You're all I want, for all of my days
I'd give all my money, yea, I'd throw it away
To stand in Your presence, and feel the light of Your face
To stand in Your presence, and feel the light of Your face

'Cause all I want is You, You know
'Cause through the joy of letting go
Yea, I've found my peace, I've found my hope
I've found my home
Yea, all I want is You, You know
'Cause through the joy of letting go
Yea, I've found my peace, I've found my hope
I've found my home

God, be my treasure, Lord, be my reward
Be my Holy Jesus, what I'm fighting for
I'd give all my hist'ry, just to stand at Your door
To knock and hear, "Enter, you're an orphan no more"
To knock and hear, "Enter, you're an orphan no more"

Yea, all I want is You, You know
'Cause through the joy of letting go
Yea, I've found my peace, I've found my hope
I've found my home
Yea, all I want is You, You know
'Cause through the joy of letting go
Yea, I've found my peace, I've found my hope
I've found my home

Yea, I've found my peace, I've found my hope
I've found my home
Yea, I've found my peace, I've found my hope
I've found my home
