

Black Sky Blue

Chris Trapper

If I was a king would you wait for me
To step off my arrogant chair?
Cuz what I have learned is everything burns
And suddenly nobody's there

It's a case that leaves no clues
It's dangerous how I dream of you
Since you turned my black sky blue
Black sky blue

And If I wore the hat of a hard working man
With old worn-out leather for skin
Oh could you trace the lines on my face
And still find some beauty within?

It's a case that leaves no clues
It's dangerous how I dream of you
Since you turned my black sky blue
Black sky blue

It don't matter where you go
It just matters where you stay
I would never claim to know
All the secret cards you hold

If I washed up on your private beach
Would you bring me blankets for clothes
Or would you be embarrassed to see
There's somebody nobody knows

It's a case that leaves no clues
It's dangerous how I dream of you
Since you turned my black sky blue
Black sky blue

It don't matter where you go
It just matters where you stay
I would never claim to know
All the secret cards you hold
