

Insecurities

Chris Wallace

Stuck in the dark
Stuck in the arms of only feeling worthless
Forgot how to live, forgot how to give
Forgot how to have a purpose
Today's the day I'm gonna be brave
Another broken promise

Forgot all the hype
Forgot all the fear the day I lost my father
It brought me to life
It brought me to tears the day I met my daughter
Outta the dark, showing my cards
And all of my scars and I ain't never looking back

Hey insecurities, I gotta set you free
You had me on my knees
Now I'm standing on my feet
No more anxiety to get the best of me
I used to keep you close but it's time I let you go

Numbing my mind, comparing online
I got a sick obsession
I never stop, why can't I stop
Making my own depression
I'm gonna break, all of the fake
I gotta count my blessings

Now I'm gonna wear my scars like armor
And laugh at all the pain
I'm gonna teach it to my daughter
Gonna lover her if she's gay
I'm gonna write it on my body
So I don't get off track
I ain't never never looking back

Hey insecurities, I gotta set you free
You had me on my knees
Now I'm standing on my feet
No more anxiety to get the best of me
I used to keep you close but it's time I let you go

(Hey insecurities, I gotta set you free
You had me on my knees
Now I'm standing on my feet
No more anxiety to get the best of me
I used to keep you close but it's time I let you go)