I'm on the edge, one step and I'll be over
Unless I take those 12 steps, aimed at gettin sober
That's the shit I told myself I'll handle when I'm older
And now I'm older and still got this devil on my shoulder
Bottle up my problems, like prescriptions I'm poppin
All the liquor that I find myself drinkin so often
Now these cards are dealt, told myself I don't need help
Numb myself to everything, and keep on runnin from myself

Let's drink away the pain Let's make another toast Let's smoke another blunt Until it's just a roach And pop another pill And drop another dose I haven't lost it yet But now I'm coming close

I'm just chemically imbalanced (On that shit) I'm just chemically imbalanced (Lost my grip) I'm just chemically imbalanced (One way trip) And now it's too late for turnin back (5x)

Left here to battle this addictive personality That's got me living in this alternate reality Losing touch with what is real ever so gradually Cause at this point I need these chemicals to balance me It's like I'm following a blueprint that the devil made Since I first took my Ritalin in the 7th grade The doctor gave me 60 milligrams, just a kid Barely weighed a buck, it's like they used me as their guinea pig Crazy teen, medicated ADD Doctor said take only 1, but you know I was taking 3 Blazin tree and skippin class, getting drunk and missin math Bangin chicks without a rubber, crushin pills up on the desk Chemically imbalanced in this motherfucker, startin shit Still I was a smart kid, got myself a scholarship Private schools with it, button-downs with the dockers And the JanSport full of weed stuffed into my locker

Let's drink away the pain Let's make another toast Let's smoke another blunt Until it's just a roach And pop another pill And drop another dose I haven't lost it yet But now I'm coming close

See I was blacking out weekly, livin on repeat
Still in highschool but the teachers could never reach me
Always was the fuck up with a chip on my shoulder
And a pocket full of anything to keep me from sober
See I was livin like there's no tomorrow
Chewin on a xany bar, rollin up the window smokin blunts up in family car
Bottles to the head, got detention on the reg
Never listenin to what my parents said

I was always rollin with an ounce or two
Everytime I'm bouncin through
Flippin everybody off like Shady taught me how to do
Always thinkin that the more we burnin, the merrier
Just a kid from middle-class suburban America
And so many others like me, listen to me nightly
Happy that somebody else is feelin' what they might be
So Christian pop a pill, oh yeah I bet you will Cause if that shit don't make your problems any less forreal

Let's drink away the pain Let's make another toast Let's smoke another blunt Until it's just a roach And pop another pill And drop another dose I haven't lost it yet But now I'm coming close
