

Day By Day

Chris Webby

Said we all gon' die one day, so what?
But while I'm kicking I'ma have my middle fingers up
Yelling "F the world" and when life gets rough
Shrug it off, roll a doobie and puff, I need enough
To turn down the noise of what's around us
Too much information thrown out at once
For one man to know and not to explode
Without getting stoned, so roll up a Dutch
And pack up the bong or bowl and get faded
Twist a J with a strain highly graded
Life is a bitch, been too much to take it
Without getting medicated, elevated
Still I made it, I got the game in reach
While I breathe weed, smoke with the breeze on the beach
Tryna find a little peace, yeah we need some relief
Or at least roll one, light one, then repeat 'cause

This life's been taking its toll
So I just light up this J and I roll
No higher place I could go
I'm just taking it day by day, only way I know
This life's been taking its toll
So I just light up this J and I roll
No higher place I could go
I'm just taking it day by day, only way I know

Life's too short so love the one you got
'Cause you might get run over or you might get shot
Watch how the minute hand on the clock
Keep going round, need a quarter ounce of the crops
To keep the mind calm and cruise down the block
With a glove box stuffed with pot, ducking the cops
Eyes bloodshot, forgot the eye drops
So I keep the shades on my face like Cyclops
I'm high as raindrops before they come down
So I'm in the sky with diamonds right now
And Lucy's here too, no time to touch ground
The world been too loud, the silence I found
Within the smoke cloud is needed sometimes
Everybody needs a breather sometimes
We all need help with easing our mind
So roll up, spark the trees and get high 'cause

This life's been taking its toll
So I just light up this J and I roll
No higher place I could go
I'm just taking it day by day, only way I know
This life's been taking its toll
So I just light up this J and I roll
No higher place I could go
I'm just taking it day by day, only way I know

Feel the walls all closing in
Until they all surround me
And I'm left without the wings I need to fly
When the skies are dark and everything
Is crashing down around me

Then what else could I do other than get high?

This life's been taking its toll
So I just light up this J and I roll
No higher place I could go
I'm just taking it day by day, only way I know
This life's been taking its toll
So I just light up this J and I roll
No higher place I could go
I'm just taking it day by day, only way I know
