

They told that I had a disorder, there ain't no truth to it
It's a superpower depending on what you do with it
Learn how to move with it, something to prove with it
Got some shortcomings mentally, but shit I'm cool with it
It's a trade off, don't let them brainwash
'Cause your brain's a different strain than ones that they got
When we hyper-focused, our minds are potent
Sight to behold, built with the right components
An avenger, superhuman, no mentor
Show me the way, I found my own center
Learned things about myself that no lecture
Could teach, but to each their own, so no pressure
Took some detours in life, some shipwrecks
On the rocks with some drug problems and missteps
Long road to success, well you put a middle schooler
On some heavy stimulants, then what the fuck you expect?
Thanks a lot, doc, but really I ain't even mad at all
Blessing in the mind but the curse is the Adderall
Chemically imbalanced, it's too late for turning back at all
Off the deep end, shit, who wanna see a cannonball?
On the shores of these crashing seas
Had to build a life raft to get back to me
Now it's like every day I make a masterpiece
So, sh, no distractions please, yeah

I'll sing you something from the mess in my mind
And the thoughts keep running, I just watch 'em go by
I know I ain't crazy, just a little distant
Yeah, I'm just a little different, huh

It's just that ADHD
It's just that ADHD
It's just that ADHD
I'm just a little different
Nothing wrong with being different

Huh, yeah we all a little different, but it's fine though
Different thoughts up in each and every mind though
All got a different secret weapon in the silo
Learn to use 'em as the time goes
Shit, you gotta just reserve a little hope for yourselves
You're the one behind the wheel, shit you know it yourselves
If you suffer with addiction, get control of yourselves
And if you schizophrenic, learn to love both of yourselves
If you got depression, channel that shit and make something
If you got a anger problem then fucking go break something
If it makes you feel better, just know that instead of Breaking something, you coulda made something, so stay ahead
Of your own problems, we all got 'em, that's facts
Anxiety and stress, shit don't let 'em hold you back
And if you dyslexic, we know how you meant it
Success is success, it don't matter how you spell it
Tell it, only how it is
We a grown generation of fucked up kids
Each with unique traits in the rat race, trying to find a place
Keep pace, step up, and just live, feel me?

I'll sing you something from the mess in my mind
And the thoughts keep running, I just watch 'em go by
I know I ain't crazy, just a little distant
Yeah, I'm just a little different, huh

It's just that ADHD
It's just that ADHD
It's just that ADHD
I'm just a little different
Nothing wrong with being different

It's just that ADHD
It's just that ADHD
It's just that ADHD
I'm just a little different
Nothing wrong with being different