

Change My Life

Christon Gray

So much greatness inside
Gotta let the world see, let it shine
Uh uh, da da dadada
Da da da
Da da da
Da da da
Dadada da da, oh

Oh, what a feeling
Nobody ever gets to know what I deal with
'Cause I own it and I've chosen to heal it
Started working out so my body weight fluctuatin'
Making songs, gotta weigh in, taking calls gotta wait
When all my shit got stolen, I started feeling homeless
They think I didn't notice, thought I was just
One bad apple in a basket of good motives
But, when I look back at 'em, then I lose focus
Telling myself something entirely different
I see it on the other side of this if I'm consistent
I'm sick of waiting, not patients here
We judge a book by the cover and the pages here
Who wanna starve, who wanna eat?
More beef at home than the streets
We just tryna be discreet
Heart broken, but I'm soft spoken
So many closed door, now I see them all open

I been working hard every day and night
Praying by my bed before I say goodnight
Doing something different, work instead of wishing
'Cause, I just gotta change my life

Sunday blunts call that a Billy Graham
When I don't got enough, you find out who I really am
Stand by, gotta give my son a hand five
Tryna show him how to win by a landslide
Too many masks, I close my eyes and imagine
Open them up and see it already happened
Singing and rapping through all of the distractions
They ain't have goals and I was claiming all the baggage
Coastline to coastline
Somewhere, digging through my gold mind
You gone find, I ain't never get the credit or a co-sign
In no time time, I'm finna level up the Lofi
It doesn't add up, don't minimize my pain
Let me make it make sense and then I'm out the game

I been working hard every day and night
Praying by my bed before I say goodnight
Doing something different, work instead of wishing
'Cause, I just gotta change my life

So much greatness inside
Gotta let the world see, let it shine
Uh uh, da da dadada
Da da da
Da da da

Da da da
Dadada da da, oh
