

Reign

Christon Gray

I touch my feet on the ocean
Stretch my rod to the sea
Walking into the fire
Revealing the truest dreams
Marching around the city
Healing the deaf and dumb
Playing away the evil spirits
Praying for the reign to come

That was back then
This right now
And I can feel myself drifting away
I need to believe
Humble myself
Wait on your voice
And be honest as I call on your name
Because you're the same God you were back then

Oh I can feel the reign
You still reign
Yes I can feel the reign
You still reign

Oh I can feel the reign
You still reign
Yes I can feel the reign
You still reign

Preaching until they stone me
Looking out for the dove
Praying for the sun to stay up
Praying for the reign to come
I've slain an entire army
Sing in a prison cell
Reaching out for your garment
Leaving my shame at the well

That was back then
This is right now
I can feel myself losing my head
I need your forgiveness

Humble myself
Wait on your voice
And be honest as I call on your
After the father that came
So broken will

Oh I can feel the reign
You still reign
Yes I can feel the reign
You still reign

Take me from this desert
And I need to feel you praise again
Surrounded by my selfishness I don't know where to go
Let this be my sinners prayer I'm grieving as I disobey

Quench my thirsty soul

With your reign lord
Your reign lord
Your reign lord
All I really need

Is your reign lord
Your reign lord
Quench my thirsty soul

With your reign lord
Your reign lord
All I really need

Is your reign lord
Your reign lord
Your reign lord
