

Loneliness

CHROM

My loneliness is killing me
I'm waiting for you can't you see
I see your face in front of me
I'm falling down right on my knees

This is the way that I should go
Where will I be then, I don't know
All I see is just a glow
Now I know I need you so

You are searching for a sign
Why your heart is out of line
You are searching for the truth
There's nothing left but me and you

Can't you see this is the end
Close your eyes and hold my hand
Just believe me it's so true
This world is made for me and you

I fall into this endless dream
I loose my pride my self esteem
I'm not here not there I'm in between Can't hear your voice, stuck in this scene

My loneliness is killing me
I'm waiting for you can't you see
I see your face in front of me
Nobody knows what will be
