

The Magic Man

Chrome Division

I was strung out and still high from last night I started to fall

The never ending hell was upon me, and man did I give a damn

I said I choose to live now, cos who knows what's to come

But I guess I never knew what hit me...

Till I woke up on the ground

(Yeah that was something. Let's do that again...)

The third day in a row was coming to an end. And so was I

Watching old tapes from a distant time. Just feelin' fine

I had a feeling I would live forevermore

But just next to me they had gone to sleep and left me hanging out to dry

I never thought that life could hurt me, there I was the magic man

THE MAGIC MAN

Left me up and carry me, I cannot feel my legs anymore

Purgatory here I come, just meet me at the gates of HELL

Good times they will come and go, just allow them to be real

I could show you all the things I did, but you wouldn't wanna see

Don't take it out on me. Livin' ain't for free

I'm coming home tonight

So this is the story of my life? What a fool a man can be

I got a pat on my back and they told me: you better behave

I did not know then, but I sure know now

I will never forget the day when the Devil shook my hand
