

If We Loved

Chuck Wicks

The prisons are empty, the homeless have houses
Nobody's hungry, nobody's poor
Nobody's judged by their faith or their colour
Nobody's wrong in this world without war
We buried our swords, we don't fight any more

You can't imagine all the mountains we'd move
If we loved, if we loved a little harder
Yeah, there's no telling all the walls we'd break through
If we loved, if we loved a little harder

Nobody's lonely, used or neglected
Children are cherished from the day that they're born
Even a stranger's never a stranger
No bars on the windows, no locks on our doors
Cos we open our doors, we're not afraid any more

You can't imagine all the mountains we'd move
If we loved, if we loved a little harder
Yeah there's no telling all the walls we'd break through
If we loved, if we loved a little harder

Just think of how much better off we'd be
If we opened up our hearts, if we believed

Oh, you can't imagine all the mountains we'd move
If we loved, if we loved a little harder
Yeah, there's no telling all the walls we'd break through
If we loved, if we loved a little harder

If we loved, if we loved
If we loved a little harder
Yeah, if we loved
