

Complete You

Chunk! No, Captain Chunk!

Pulling me in, pulling me in Drag me under, what makes you think
I can breathe better underwater?
Don't get too close, don't get too close
I'll still have to learn to hold my breath
Trying hard to get to the point of all of this
Let me help you see through yourself, see for yourself
Good intentions never go to waste

But things change like everything
I've been sitting here with doubt
I've played my part, for another year
I've tried to show some heart until the coast is clear
But I clearly haven't found it

Here is everything on my mind, it doesn't make it easier
Hard to take advice or trust all your feelings
So don't wait for me to put you back together
So don't wait for me to complete you

This hurricane won't change its course
Searching for shelter, looking for recourse
I need an anchor, I'm drifting too far away
To know where I've been
You don't know how much longer you can cope
How much slack is on the rope left to hold onto
You always hope if you push something too far
That it doesn't come back to haunt you

(This hurricane won't change its course)

Here is everything on my mind, it doesn't make it easier
Hard to take advice or trust all your feelings
So don't wait for me to put you back together
So don't wait for me to complete you
This is the last time and it doesn't make it easier
If we can't find it we'll never know what it is
So don't wait for me to put you back together
So don't wait for me to complete you

To complete you, to complete you
The last time it doesn't make it easier
If we can't find it, we'll never know what it is
We'll never know what it is

Here is everything on my mind, it doesn't make it easier
Hard to take advice or trust all your feelings
So don't wait for me to put you back together
So don't wait for me to complete you
This is the last time and it doesn't make it easier
If we can't find it we'll never know what it is
So don't wait for me to put you back together
So don't wait for me to complete you
