Marigold

Chunk! No, Captain Chunk!

Not only do we connect
I perfectly fit in with you
Whatever I've searched hard to find
I already found it with you

If we were to paint a perfect picture of the life we strive to get We'd probably trace each other's over and leave out the old lives we regret
We're just the lucky ones we're told
We won't change much when we're old
We'll just keep the best intentions
And try to follow down that road

I might drown if I'm too deep
We talk all night and I'm losing sleep
On this cloud and I won't come down
I was hoping you'd love to stay around

I'm so far from home just trying to be sincere
There's times in my life that I wish you could be here
There's so many times that we cut it close
We both know what we want the most
I'd pick you every time my Marigold

We can be alone on a long drive turn the music up
And before I even reach
You just take my hand
Long talks from far away
I can tell that you hate it but you understand
But I can't explain how it works

I can never find words

To describe this
Oh I've tried it

So many times I build walls
And just watch as they fall
Self-destructive
Just one step away from losing it all

I'm so far from home just trying to be sincere
There's times in my life that I wish you could be here
There's so many times that we cut it close
We both know what we want the most
I'd pick you every time my Marigold

You can cut right through the darkness you light up the room
You're like leaves falling in autumn your eyes in full bloom
Your heart, so full of patience
And I can't seem to find any complications
There is no miscommunication
And I don't think we'll cross that line
Honest with all our frustrations
Just keep your word and I'll keep mine
I wish that I had you all along
And I feel like I know you for so long
I'm so far from home just trying to be sincere

There's times in my life that I wish you could be here
There's so many times that we cut it close
We both know what we want the most
I'd pick you every time my Marigold
I'd pick you every time my Marigold

There's times in my life that I wish you could be here
There's so many times that we cut it close
We both know what we want the most
I'd pick you every time my Marigold
I'd pick you every time my Marigold
