

So dumb, wild, young, and free
Back when we were at Coachella and you looked at me
I came for Drake, you said you love Jay-Z
You kept talking, I said, "Shut up, put your hands on me."

I don't wanna wake you while you're sleeping
I hate to be the girl who leaves like that
I can't stay but I had fun
Won't be here when morning comes
I can't let my heart break like that

Call me stupid, call me selfish
May be tripping but I can't help it
You can thank all of the boys before you
They're the reason I won't trust you
It's stupid and I know it
I still think 'bout what we could've been
You should thank all of the boys before you
They're the reason I won't love you

Fell back to my old routine
Months passed and I laughed when I see you on the street
You said, "Hey, do you remember me?"
You kept talking, I said, "Shut up, put your hands on me."

I hate the fact that we're repeating this again
I hate what I'm doing to you
What am I doing to you?
I still can't stay but I had fun
Won't be here when morning comes
I can't let my heart break like that

Call me stupid, call me selfish
May be tripping but I can't help it
You can thank all of the boys before you
They're the reason I won't trust you
It's stupid and I know it
I still think 'bout what we could've been
You should thank all of the boys before you
They're the reason I won't love

They're the reason I don't
Why I won't love you
Love you

Call me stupid, call me selfish
Might be tripping but I can't help it
Can't help you