

Forget Him

Cilla Black

All alone countin' promises that you made
All alone mountin' promises that you broke

In a thousand days
Must I sit here for a thousand days?
Would you care much if I do
Or will you leave me cryin'?
I think you're still relyin'
On me forgettin' you

I am so all alone
With a heart that soon will turn to stone
Lots of quivered shattered dreams
It's hard to keep from cryin'
When you feel love is dyin'
And you know you're meant to be

Love me
Love me
Love me

Maybe he's right when he tells me
That I should forget about him (No), yes
Having two loves in my life
Isn't always a terrible sin (No)
I'll go to the places where we used to go
There's plenty of guys that would like me I know

Here I go
Lock up this room and go

I know I'll die if I don't leave this place
And forget about him
Get out of here, put a smile on my face
And forget about him

I gotta forget him
I gotta forget him
You know I gotta forget him
I got to forget him
Forget him
Oh