

Bittersweet

Cimorelli

Somewhere someone just got two pink lines
Somewhere someone breathed their last goodbye
We long for change like shedding leaves
Time is an unforgiving thief

I've lost and I've gained
I've cried and I've sang
I've held everything in and drowned in the silence
I've spoken the words I kept close to my chest
I've made peace with the dark and found pieces of me
And it's all been bittersweet
And it's all been bittersweet

We get what we want but it's not what we thought
The hourglass isn't big enough
And some days it's harder to live than to die
But I see endless light when I look in your eyes

I've lost and I've gained
I've cried and I've sang
I've held everything in and drowned in the silence
I've spoken the words I kept close to my chest
I've made peace with the dark and found pieces of me
And it's all been bittersweet
And it's all been bittersweet

Somehow I still try when there's pain in goodbye
When the moments pass so fast
The good things never last
But neither do the bad

Ooh

It is painful to be human
It is beautiful to be human

I've lost and I've gained
I've cried and I've sang
I've held everything in and drowned in the silence
I've spoken the words I kept close to my chest
I've made peace with the dark and found pieces of me
And it's all been bittersweet
And it's all been bittersweet
