

Blue

Cimorelli

I fall in love with you a little bit
Everytime you look at me like this
It makes it hard for me to concentrate
When in my head all I see is your face

I haven't felt like this in eight months
And even then this wasn't how it was
I thought I lost my trust in everyone
You got me second guessing all my thoughts

Your blue eyes so wide
Saturday night, your house
We're just talking about everything
You're telling me how you wanna be in a punk band

Time goes by now it's past midnight
Showing me how to play your Nintendo
And you accidentally touch my hand

I fall in love with you a little bit
Everytime I start thinking that you quit
And I've been looking for something different
I think that maybe I just found it

Your blue eyes so wide
Saturday night, your house
We're just talking about everything
You're telling me how you wanna be in a punk band

Time goes by now it's past midnight
Showing me how to play your Nintendo
And you accidentally touch my hand

He says this town is so boring
But anywhere he is to me is interesting
I know we're practically strangers
But I wanna stay here forever

I fall in love with you a little bit
And then I start falling out of it
I'm not so sure what I should think
But I like how I was feeling when I looked in

Your blue eyes so wide
Saturday night, your room
We're just talking about everything
You're telling me you sat next to me cause I was wearing Vans

You smile like that now I can't go back
Showing me how to play your xylophone
You accidentally stole my heart
You accidentally stole my heart
