

Tennessee

Cimorelli

Look how you've grown
Can't go back home
These walls erode
But they're all I know

Sweat on my sheets
Another night with no sleep
It's all resting on me
And it all goes bad
And these growing pains
They're not going away
If it meant you would stay
I'd take it all back

The bridges burned and lessons learned I carry with me
Made my mistakes, things I would change that I wont repeat
I left the coast almost went broke I lost part of me
Figured out who I wanna be
And I ended up in Tennessee

These winding roads
I walk with eyes closed
I still feel the cold
From when the water rose

And our family trees
Been shedding their leaves
While we hear new heartbeats
And it's all so fast
And these dial tones
Wish I would have said hello
I just wanna go home
But this is home now

The bridges burned and lessons learned I carry with me
Made my mistakes, things I would change that I wont repeat
I left the coast almost went broke I lost part of me
Figured out who I wanna be
And I ended up in Tennessee

And that house we used to live in well it's burned down now
I've been practicing forgiveness but I'm all burned out
God's been asking me to listen
I can't help but argue with Him
And now everything is different
But it all works out

It all works out

The bridges burned and lessons learned
Made my mistakes things I would change
I left the coast almost went broke I lost part of me
Figured out who I wanna be
