

New World

Cindy Morgan

Walking the narrow line
Between the dark and light
It seems you spend your time
Running away from the past

All of your bridges burned
The hard ways the way you've learned
Are you sure the tide won't turn
Before it's too late to go back

Let the water cleanse you
Let it set you free
Let Him show you all
That life was meant to be

You're going to shine
You're gonna see
You're gonna find
What happiness means
You're gonna have
A new song to sing
When you (yeah, yeah)
Step into the new world
Into the new world

Too much you can't explain
So hard to face the pain
But that's the only way
To find some peace at last
With such a heavy load
You've got to let it go
But God will be there you know
To help lay it down

Let the water cleanse you
Let it set you free
Let Him show you all
That life was meant to be
