

I Felt Free

Circa Survive

Nothing new to say

Nothing to report cause the future happened yesterday

If I could tell the truth

I could make you stay but forever seems so far away

I fell apart in your arms
for the last time

And I felt free to do what I want because of the things you told me,
because of the things you told me, you told me
I felt free

You could be the end of me

Too many shades of gray

It's just another pointless game that we play

I couldn't tell the truth

I'll never make you stay because tomorrow always happens yesterday

I fell apart in your arms
for the last time

And I felt free to do what I want
because of the things you told me
because of the things you told me, you told me
I felt free

I felt free

I will learn to live again for now I'm breaking all the things I couldn't mend without escaping I will learn to love again
I will learn to love
I will learn