

Echoes

Circle II Circle

Same old thoughts today
Echo in my mind
Hopes of you just won't decay
In these desperate days
Knowing every time
You had the answer
you just wouldn't say

In this separateness
Makes it so much stranger
Wasting here from day to day
And this desperate mess
Is going to its grave
I've got too much left to save
And I wanna be there

What happens to me now
Now that I've had all these shattered nightmares
Never really seeing what's right there
Pretending I don't care
Searching for the reasons while the pain tears
You will breathe life
I need to have you near
It's all I ever hear
Echoes in the wind

In this helplessness
It's so hard to care
Wishing it all would melt away
I could make my way
Make it back to you
Across the distance lies the truth
'Cause I wanna be there

What happens to me now
Now that I've had all these shattered nightmares
Never really seeing what's right there
Pretending I don't care
Searching for the reasons while the pain tears
You will breathe life
I need to have you near
It's all I ever hear
Echoes in the wind

From a haze comes a rain that fills the sky
There's no sense in wondering why
Crazy dreams were left to die
And my thoughts only cause confusion
Remnants of my lost delusions
Still we long for a hopeful vision
Waiting there

What happens to me now
Now that I've had all this share of nightmares
Never really seeing what's right there
Pretending I don't care
Searching for the reasons why repentance

You will breathe life I need to have you near
It's all I ever hear