

One More Day

Circle II Circle

Returning through the past
Inside your never ending nightmare
No escaping
From the things you've done
Going way too fast
And all your days are just too much to bear
Screaming down a highway in the sun
Say goodbye to everyone

One more day in the distance
Lonely is the darkness
That you put yourself in
All the dreams you mention
In a whisper
Once forgotten never seen
They won't return again

Can't you see what's hiding
In reflections of your innocence
Disappearing as you look away
Years of isolation
In the silence of your dark abyss
Buried by the years
Of guilt and shame
There ain't no one else to blame

One more day in the distance
Desperate situations
That you put yourself in
All the dreams you mention
In a whisper
You dare to look but never see
They won't return again