

Shadows

Circle II Circle

Like the cold inside the night feel the hollow deep inside
Like every shallow thought that ever entered into your mind

I see reflections, the broken pieces
A mirror's deception in the shadows
You turn through the mist, your eyes still burn

Every time I thought I could see
It turns out to be unfortunate ending

What are we waiting for? One of these days
I'll learn to break inside I could never think about
What are you asking for? All the mistakes
Come back to me haunt me now
I can never think about you and I
So much we left behind

I hear the tolling bell calling me to my living hell
For what it's worth I'll say some things are only
Destined to fade

I look at you as a traitor
You taught me to live in a world full of anger

What are we waiting for? ...

Now I see faces in the rain, all pretending
Never showing their true pain
Always seeking a way to escape this day
The ending is our prophecy every last hesitation
So it seems and we fight to pretend
Someday we'll find what we want in the end

So I creep inside my doom in the corner of my room
And hide out from the light like the cold inside the night

Feel the hollow deep inside
That you've entered in my mind

I look at you as a traitor
You taught me to live in a world full of anger

What are we waiting for? ...
