

This Morning (We Remembered Everything)

Circulatory System

This morning we remembered everything
This morning we remembered everything
And the sky came down and tapped us on the shoulder
And the sky came down and tapped us on the shoulder

It's about time
It's about time
It's about time
It's about time

Hear us

Very far away
Very far away, spinning into

There's a world somewhere that's a little bit different
There's a world somewhere that's a little bit different
We've seen how you think it is
We've seen how you think it is

This morning we remembered everything
This morning we remembered everything
And the sky came down and tapped us on the shoulder
This morning we remembered everything
This morning we remembered everything
And the sky came down and tapped us on the shoulder
And the sky came
And the sky came
(And the sky came)
And the sky came
(And the sky came)
And the sky came
