

Velocity (S.E.P.)

Cirith Ungol

Stretch your soul upon the rack
Flaming whips across your back
Look around, a tragic illusion
Look around, the grim conclusion, just where you are

How on earth can this be real
Sold your soul, took the deal
Did your best to do your worst
A lake of fire but an endless thirst are all that's all left for you

Looking down the rings of Hell are stretching far below
Endless pain and anguish there's so many more to go

Everything to please your master
All you touched, disaster
Wanton greed your one temptation
Your craven life of subjugation, never set you free

Looking down the rings of Hell are stretching far below
Endless pain and anguish there's so many more to go

Crying out, it's all in vain
Every night it's always the same
Pluck out your eyes, refusing to see
The cruel precision and velocity, were always meant for you

How on earth can this be real
Sold your soul, took the deal
Look around, no illusion
Look around, one conclusion, just where you are

As you fall the rings of Hell are churning down below
Endless pain and pleasure, there's so many more to go