

What Would You Change

Citizen Way

Our days add up before we see
That too fast they fly gone like the breeze
We fill em up with stuff we won't recall
And when death finds us are we ready at all

If this was the last day of your life
What would you do before you cross that finish line
If this was the last day of your life
What would you change

Some of us rely on what we do
We say we sigh it's all up to you
It is but it's not you don't make the call
Our end depends on Who we fall on

If this was the last day of your life
What would you do before you cross that finish line
If this was the last day of your life
What would you change

What would you change
Who would you be
If you could have lived it all so differently
Who would you love more than you did
When you said you'd stay with them through anything
What would you change tell me who would you be
If you could have lived it all so differently
Who would you trust
When would you learn
That only the last are first eternally
If you could do it all again
What would you change

Forget your piety and your notoriety
Forget the little things you think are the really big things
And realize you are not the only one
You are not the only one
You are not the only one here

What would you change
Who would you be
If you could have lived it all so differently
What would you change

What would you change
Who would you be
If you could live it all so differently
Who could you love more than you did
When you said you'd stay with them through anything

What would you change tell me who would you be
If you could have lived it all so differently
Who would you trust
What would you learn
That only the last are first eternally
What would you change
What would you change

If you could do it all again
What would you change
What would you change
What would you change
