I felt what it's like today
To turn all the clocks away
The time that it takes to live
The time that it takes to live
I saw your face today from across the hall away

You're looking so different
You're looking so different now
I've turned them all away
I've had enough of them today
I've turned them all away

It comes around
It comes around
It comes around
The dark is always

I reached out and touched beyond
I found nothing that I want
Just some time that I couldn't give
Just some time that I couldn't give

I turn away the clocks
I just want them to stop
I'm feeling so different
I'm feeling so different now
I've turned them all away
I've had enough of them today
I turned them all away

It comes around
It comes around
(I head to the sidewalk)
It comes around
(Under [?])
The dark is on the way

I felt what it's like today
To turn all the clocks away
The time that it takes to live
