Clap Your Hands!

Clap Your Hands Say Yeah

Run the lip off sunshine shore
Betray white water
Delay dark forms
Slap young waves on wooden bones
Don't touch the laughter and away we go

Away we go

CLAP YOUR HANDS!
But I feel so lonely
CLAP YOUR HANDS!
But it won't do nothing
CLAP YOUR HANDS!
But I have no money
CLAP YOUR HANDS!
Are you up to something?
CLAP YOUR HANDS!
Where's my milk and honey?
CLAP YOUR HANDS!
But I just look funny
CLAP YOUR HANDS!
I'll just wait awhile

As time alone stands still for some Stuffed sailor up with eyeball sun And if by castle ship should stray It has like you no chosen fate for It's tongue-tied caboose that leads This ragged lad, this finger-flipping Mom and dad (for what is worth some Aimless steer?) And should mouth Confuse my foggy mirror and reveal What is not there I shall take this Unbound train away...
