Claptone

Are they asking for me still?
Safe light
I get lost again
In your walk stranger
You can have it all
And in a way I'm never gonna die
When the sun rushes into the sky
I know it's alright
I can't go home again
Just like before

You better get it 'fore it goes
You better get it 'fore it goes
Son you better get it 'fore it goes

And when the cold comes into my eyes
Maybe if I stay up all night
Just tell the truth everything will be alright
Son you better get it 'fore it goes
I told you I wouldn't wait for a trial
Someone give him pentathol instant
Don't you waste your energy trying to find me
Son you better get it 'fore it goes
And with a lost soul look in my eyes
Just another sudden human disguise
I think it's alright
Tell me what's wrong with my mind...

Son you better get it 'fore it goes
You better get it 'fore it goes
Son you better get it 'fore it goes

And when the cold comes into my eyes
Maybe if I stay up all night
Just tell the truth everything will be alright
You better get it 'fore it goes
I told you I wouldn't wait for a trial
Someone give him pentathol instant
Don't you waste your energy trying to find me
Son you better get it 'fore it goes

Are they asking for me still?
(And with the full tank, air in the tires)
Safe light
(And no idea just where I'm going)
I'll get lost again
(And when the cold comes into my eyes)
In your walk stranger
(Just say the truth everything will be alright)
You can have it all
(I told you I wouldn't wait for a trial)
And in a way I'm never gonna die
(Don't you waste your energy trying to find me)
When the sun rushes into the sky
(Slipping away, away from it all)
I know it's alright
(Made a mistake, man, I could have told you)

I can't go home again just like before...
