Like gravity (gravity) You pull me into you

Like gravity (Gravity) You pull me into you Like running free (Running free) I'm getting breathless for you I wasn't looking for it I never thought it'd be now You came around so sudden I couldn't figure it out It always seems to happen When you feel stuck in a drought I feel much better with you But I need time for myself Cause there's days when I be sitting home on the weekend crying Maybe I'm working too many nights, and it's not easy (easy) Trying to figure out where you are when you can't breathe I need time for all my doubts, then'll I come back-come back I'll come back, I'll come back around I'll come back, give me time to back around I'll come back, I'll come back around I'll come back, give me time to back around I love it when you tell me that there won't be no one else (I love it when you tell me no, no) And when you say don't worry You'll always figure it out You're not afraid to let me Have all this time for myself (have all this time for myself) I know how much you trust me And I thank you for you help Cause there's days when I be sitting home on the weekend crying For no reason Maybe I'm working too many nights, and it's not easy (easy) Trying to figure out where you are when you can't breathe I need time for all my doubts, then'll I come back-come back I'll come back, I'll come back around I'll come back, give me time to back around I'll come back, I'll come back around I'll come back, give me time to back around When the rain is pouring outside You stay here right by bedside (pull me back to you) Like gravity (gravity) You pull me into you Like running free (running free) I'm getting breathless for you

Like running free (running free)
I'm getting breathless for you

Oh, you know that I love you (know that I love you, oh) You, you, you, you
You give me something that I can't get from nobody else (You)
