

Wasn't Looking

Clare Dunn

I used to care too much
Spinning my wheels and just keep gettin' stuck
I used to dream 'bout how it'd be
If someone like you loved someone like me

I let go, I just stopped
Pulled the brake on that train
And got off

Yeah you can't see nothin' when you're looking so hard
And I was like a blind man stumblin' in the dark
Sometimes it ain't where you think it'd be
Stares you in the face but you still can't see
Like a guilty man searching for the truth
No I wasn't looking when I found you
(Looking for, looking for, looking for you)
(Looking for, looking for, looking for you)

Who woulda thought? Not me
I got clean from too much wishful thinking
It's like a drug, like a disease
It just eats you up and doesn't change a damn thing

I let go, I just stopped
Pulled the brake on that train
And got off

Yeah you can't see nothin' when you're looking so hard
And I was like a blind man stumblin' in the dark
Sometimes it ain't where you think it'd be
Stares you in the face but you still can't see
Like a guilty man searching for the truth
No I wasn't looking when I found you
(Looking for, looking for, looking for you)
(Looking for, looking for, looking for you)

Sometimes it ain't where you think it'd be
Stares you in the face but you still can't see
Like a guilty man searching for the truth
No I wasn't looking when I found you
(Looking for, looking for, looking for you)
(Looking for, looking for, looking for you)
(Looking for, looking for, looking for you)
(Looking for, looking for, looking for you)

When I found you
