Don't sell yourself to fall in love
Make it make sense
The things you do

I don't know
Maybe it's the marijuana
Or the way they treated marijuana
Oh, now they all believe the science
So many lives lost
I know a few behind walls 'cause of these foolish bylaws
Big Pharma still cashing in, cashing in
They finally let us medicate
As long as they can tax it
From my view, it's malpractice
'Cause now these doctors all prescribe what they banned, must be magic It's hard to trust authority
When you're looking at it morally
I know some first-time weed dealers who got longer sentences
Than some of these child abusers on their third offense and it's Sick to see it happen over again and again
Just make it make sense
'Cause we can go back as far as you wanna, the history is there
And I would never trust someone who did me wrong this many years
But I wanna believe you're doing right by us
It's just hard when you blindside us

The penitentiary got a music class
But my daughter's school lost theirs
I know it's hard to keep it balancing
But all we ask is being honest about what the challenge is Why does Scotia pay the highest taxes
And got the worst health care?
Why can't we afford health here, huh?
Give the reserves clean water
And a little bit of justice, for the fuck shit, from the government
And church too
It's only right they feel the fallout
Residential schools right here is where they called home
There's a lot about this country that I love
But there's things about this place that I'm ashamed of Yeah, we need to talk about it, need to make a plan
And recognize what we did to this native land
And maybe then we can look back and celebrate, stop the hate
That's how you make a country great... Just make it make sense

It's hard to trust 'em nowadays
But maybe it's just me
