Spare Tire

Claud

Been entertained since the morning, the morning I saw you
At the park, the pollen, the pollen was falling
On your arms as you reached
You reached for a hand I didn't recognize

Now it's fun, it's fun to watch you lying
No, it's great I swear, can't you see me smiling
Through my teeth, no, we didn't label anything
Teeth 'cause we aren't anything

I could spare a dollar
And I could spare some time for my mother
I could spare my covers when it's cold for you
But that's as far as I'll go for you

Ripping seams off my jacket
I've been touring the country in this minivan
And if I stopped for a second, I could catch you falling
And If you stopped for a second, you would see me calling

And he picks, he picks up the phone
I can still remember it well so
You're laughing, asking for it back
I'm not laughing if you cared to ask

I could spare a tire
And I could spare some change for a buyer
I could spare an hour when you need me to
But that's as far as I'll go for you
That's as far as I'll go
